JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1862.

NOT WILLING TO BE COUNTED A TORY. -Hon. C. D. Meacham, the present mayor of Freeport, and a life-long democrat, was called upon to speak at a democratic meeting held at that place, and he did so with great power and effect, and in a manner not at all satisfactory to the tories who invited him. Among other things, he said: "Complaint has been made that negroes are fleeing from the south and coming among us. This is the direct consequence of slavery in the south. If the negro could have his freedom in the south, he would stay there, and to get rid of the negro in Illinois, I am in favor of the speedy and swift destruction of slavery throughout the south. When this is done, the negroes will leave us and go south to a climate better adapted to them. The cruelty of slavery drives them north among us. Give them freedom in the south, and our cold climate will drive them from us. Hence I hail the proclamation of the President, giving freedom to the negro, as wise and absolutely demanded by circumstances which surround the nation. Had he not done it the rebels would, and left the government in the attitude of fighting to preserve slavery under the constitution. With these views I shall belong to no party until the war is over."

We have already mentioned the fact that the new iron clud western river gunboat 'Fort Henry" was hunched at Carondelet, below St. Louis, last Thursday, and that the "Choctaw," a vessel purchased some time since by the navy department and subsequently converted into a ram, was launched on the previous Saturday. The Fort Henry, a sort of sister ship to the Essex, is 280 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 11 feet deep. The Choctaw is 225 feet long, 34 feet wide, and about 10 feet deep. The Fort Henry will carry eight guns, and the Choctaw six. The latter is a mere ram, the former being more of a gunboat. Each boat's ram measures two feet, of bell-metal. Porter's India-rubber invention is carried on these vessels, which is said to be better than three inches of iron. The Osage, Winnebago, Chickasaw and

Milwaukee are progressing rapidly in the yard whence the ships named were launched. -Chicago Journal. THE WANTS OF OUR SOLDIERS .-- The sanitary commission are in frequent receipt of calls like the following from Dr. Derby, surgeon in charge of the general hospital Memphis. Tenn.: "There are now 900 patients under my charge, and I will venture to ask for 300 shirts, 300 pair of drawers, 600 pair socks, 400 pair of slippers. As to shirts and drawers, I make as moderate a demand as possible. If the quantity could be doubted, it would no more than meet the demand." Similar demands are made from Columbus, Ky., where there are 1,200 patients, and from Corinth, where on the 21th alt. there were 1,500 sick and wounded. Now that cotton goods are so high, shirts and drawers sufficient for hospital use, might be made out of half worn sheets. They are softer and -more acceptable to the sick than if made of new goods.—Chicago Tri-

A farmer near Detroit having occasion to go to one of his fields, which is somewhat excluded from view, was astonished to find therein two men and a boy having with them eight or nine horses which they French Conformatuer, at the were industriously belaboring with ox goads. On demanding the reason for such a proceeding he was informed that the horses were about to be offered for sale to a government officer, for the cavalry service, and the beating was for the purpose JANESVILLE, of giving them a "wide awake" appearance when they were submitted to the usual test by the officer appointed to pass upon their merits. They informed the farmer that when the whip was gently applied to a horse that had just undergone this process, it would be a dull and sleepy "hack" indeed that would not exhibit the appearance of a mettlesome animal.

TERRIBLE Accident.—Charles Hoffman, a machinist, was caught by a belt attached to a revolving shaft in the Milwankee and Prairie du Chien railway shops, yesterday, and was swiftly carried around on the shaft full a hundred times before the machinery could be stopped. His left leg, just above the ankle, was terribly crushed by it, rendering amputation of his foot necessary. His right foot was greatly injured also, but it is thought that it can be saved. Every time he revolved his feet and legs struck a beam, and it is almost a miracle that he did not lose his life, or that he was not crushed from head to foot .-- Milwaukes Wisconsin.

Four Horses Necessary .- A Sharpsburg correspondent of the Philadelphia

It may not be known that Gen. McClellan usually travels at present in a vehicle with four horses, precisely as did Gen. Fremont in Missouri. This has been made a handle for much political abuse of the latter, who has been foolishly charged with an affectation of aristocratic state. The habit is no cessary at times. In a carriage with six seats a number of staff officers can be accommodated, and consultation can thus be had with greater facility than on horse-

RECRUITS FOR OLD REGIMENTS,-We learn from Sergeant Dexter, who has had charge of the forwarding of recruits for our old regiments, that since the 1st of August about 1,100 men have been sent forward. The cavalry and artillery arms of the service have taken the largest proportion of the recruits. As about 6,000 recruits were needed to fill up the ranks of our old regiments and batteries, it will be seen that nearly 5,000 men are yet needed, and if they are not soon forthcoming will be drafted for, as it is of vital importance that their ranks should be replenished speedily .- Madison Journal.

Good Guir.-An old gentleman nemed Bonner, aged 72, walked 24 miles on Monday, and reported himself to a company in which he had enlisted, at Camp Washburn, signifying his readiness to commence drill at once. Yesterday he was drilling with his company, apparently as spry as the youngest of them. The example is a good Literary and News Depot, one for some of our young men about the city. -- il isconsin. For the aged and infirm, or for persons of a weak constantion—for Ministers of the Gospel, Lawyer, and all public speakers—for Book-Keepeirs, Tailors, Seamstresses, Students, Artists, and all persons leading a sedentery life, they will prove truly beneficial.

As a Beverage, they are wholesome, innecent, and delicious to the caste. They produce all the exhiliarating offects of Brandy or Wine, without intexicating; and are a valuable remedy for persons addicted to excessive use of strong drink, and wish to refruit from it. They are pure and entirely free from the poison contained in the adulterated Wines and Educors with which the country is flooded.

Those Bitters not only CURE, but PREVENT Disease, and should be used by all who live in a country where the water is bad, or where Chills and Fevers are prevalent. Being entirely innocent and larmiers, they may be given freely to Children and Infants with impunity.

-Hon. C. D. Meacham, the present mayor of Freeport, and a life-long democrat, was called upon to speak at a democratic meeting held at that place, and he did so with great power and effect, and in a manner not at all satisfactory to the tories who invited him. Among other things, he said:
"Complaint has been made that negroes are fleeing from the south and coming among us. This is the direct consequence of slavery in the south. If the negro could have his freedom in the south, he would stay there, and to get rid of the negro in Illinois, I am in favor of the speedy and swift destruction of slavery throughout the south. When this is done, the negroes will leave us and go south to a climate bet-ter adapted to them. The cruelty of slavery drives them north among us. Give them freedom in the south, and our cold climate will drive them from us. Hence I hail the proclamation of the President, giving freedom to the negro, as wise and absolutely demanded by circumstances which surround the nation. Had he not done it the rebels would, and left the government in the attitude of fighting to pre-serve slavery under the constitution. With these views I shall belong to no party until the war is over." We have already mentioned the fact that the new iron clad western river gunboat "Fort Henry" was launched at Carondelet, below St. Louis, last Thursday, and that the "Choctaw," a vessel purchased some time since by the navy department and subsequently converted into a ram, was launched on the previous Saturday. The Fort Henry, a sort of sister ship to the Essex, is 280 feet long, 40 feet wide, and 11 feet deep. The Choctaw is 225 feet long, 34 feet wide, and about 10 feet deep. The Fort Henry will carry eight gune, and the Choctaw six. The latter is a mere rum, the former being more of a gunboat. Each boat's ram measures two feet, of bell-metal. Porter's India-rubber invention is carried on these vessels, which is said to be better than three inches of iron. The Osage, Winnebago, Chickasaw and Milwaukee are progressing rapidly in the yard whence the ships named were launched. →Chicago Journal.

THE WANTS OF OUR SOLDIERS .--- The sanitary commission are in frequent receipt of calls like the following from Dr. Derby, surgeon in charge of the general hospital, Memphis, Tenn.: "There are now 900 patients under my charge, and I will venture to ask for 300 shirts, 300 pair of drawers, 600 pair socks,

400 pair of slippers. As to shirts and drawers, I make as moderate a demand as possible. If the quantity could be doubted it would no more than meet the demand. Similar demands are made from Columbus, Ky., where there are 1,200 patients, and from Corinth, where on the 24th alt., there were 1,500 sick and wounded. Now that cotton goods are so high, shirts and drawers sufficient for hospital use, might be made out of half worn sheets. They are softer and more acceptable to the sick than if made of new goods .- Chicago Tribune. A farmer near Detroit having occasion to go to one of his fields, which is some-what excluded from view, was astonished to find therein two men and a boy having with them eight or nine horses which they were industriously belaboring with ox goads. On demanding the reason for such a proceeding he was informed that the horses were about to be offered for sale to a government officer, for the cavalry service, and the beating was for the purpose of giving them a "wide awake" appear.

Tearible Accident.—Charles Hoffman. a machinist, was caught by a belt attached to a revolving shaft in the Milwaukee and Prairie du Chien railway shops, yesterday, and was swiltly carried around on the shalt tull a hundred times before the machinery could be stopped. His left leg, just above the ankle, was terribly crushed by it, ren-ARE made from a pure and unadalterated Wine, which is about double the usual strength of other Wines, and is imported by only one house in the United States. Form Horses Necessary.—A Sharpsburg correspondent of the Philadelphia Press. says : It may not be known that Gen. McClellan usually travels at present in a vehicle with four horses, precisely as did Gen. Fremont This has been made a handle for much political abuse of the latter, who has been foolishly charged with an affectation of aristocratic state. The habit is ne cessary at times. In a carriage with six seats a number of staff officers can be accommodated, and consultation can thus be had with greater facility than on horseback. RECRUITS FOR OLD REGIMENTS .- We learn from Sergeant Dexter, who has had charge of the forwarding of recruits for our old regiments, that since the 1st of August about 1,100 men have been sent for ward. The cavalry and artillery arms of the service have taken the largest propor tion of the recruits. As about 6,000 recruits were needed to fill up the ranks of our old regiments and batteries, it will be seen that nearly 5,000 men are yet needed, and if they are not soon forthcoming will be drafted for, as it is of vital importance that their ranks should be replenished speedily.—Madison Journal.

Good GRIT .-- An old gentleman named Bonner, aged 72, walked 24 miles on Monlay, and reported himself to a company in which he had enlisted, at Camp Washburn, signifying his readiness to commence drill at once. Yesterday he was drilling with his company, apparently as spry as the youngest of them. The example is a good one for some of our young men about the city .- Wisconsin.

Going Back .- Col. Geo. E. Bryant and Adjutant J. K. Proudfit of the 12th Wisconsin, who have been here some days recuperating from disease and debilitation leave to join their regiment at Humboldt this evening. The 12th is one of the star regiments, and none has more efficient and popular officers.—Madison Journal.

Mrs. G---'s interest in the three young men, who were now specially in her charge, found no abatement, but rather increase. In brief conversations with each of them, she gathered little facts and incidents and sentiments that expressed the quality of their lives, of a character still further to interest her feelings. Each had been tenderly cared for in early years, and each was oyal as well to all home memories as to the country he had gone forth to serve, bearing his life in his hands.

It was nearly an hour after the wounded rebel was brought in, when a nurse, crossing from a distant part, where he lay, came to Mrs. C ---, who was assisting the surgeon to dress the shattered limb of one of the young men under her care, and stooping down, said to her, with suppressed agitation:

"It is your son, madam!" "Who? where?" The color went out of Mrs. G---'s face.

NEWS FROM NEW ORLEANS.—A staff officer from New Orleans, now in this city, asserts that when the Hon. Reverdy Johnson was there, estensibly for the purpose of arranging matters between Gen. Butler and the foreign consuls, he made himself very obnoxious to the soldiers and Union citizens there by his intimacy with the secession aristograte, and the freedom with which he became their guest. Mr. Johnson occupied much of his time in mellifying the punishment and remitting the fines of rebels which had been inflicted by order of Gen. Butler. On one occasion the value in gold of half a eargo of cotton, the other half of which was exchanged for munitions of war which Gen. Butler had seized and was sending to Secretary Chase, was ordered by Mr. Johnson to be returned to the robel firm. Gen. Butler summoned the mercantile rebels to his presence. WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. The Richmond Whig of Sept. 30th, conlains the following: In the rebel senate on the 29th of September, Mr. Simmes of Louisiana, submitted the following joint regolution:

Resolved, By the congress of the confederate states, That the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America, issued at the city of Washington, in the year 1862, wherein he declares that on the first day of January, 1863, all persons held as slaves within any state, or designated parts of a state, whereof the people shall be in rebellion against the United States, shall be henceforth and forever free, is leveled against the citizens of the confederate states, and as such, is a gross violation of the usages of civilized warfare, and an outrage on the rights of private property, and an invitation to an atrocious servile war. It therefore should be held up to the execration of mankind, and counteracted by such severe retaliatory measures as in the judgment of the president may be best calculated to secure its withdrawal or arrest its execution.

Mr. Clark, of Missouri, moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on foreign affairs. fray.
The Whig speaks of president Lincoln's proclamation as ordaining a servile insurrection in the confederate states, and says it is not understood North or South. It is a dash of the pen to destroy four thousand millions of our property, and is as much as a bid for the slaves to rise in insurrection, with the assurance of aid from the whole military and naval power of the United States. It speaks of the cruelty of the administration, and says that Buttler is a saint compared with his master.

Garibaldi, under date of Sept. 14th, replied: "I am a prisoner, and danger ously wounded. It is consequently impossible for me to dispose of myself. As soon, however, as I am restored to liberty, and Co. G. C. Cook & Co. my wounds are healed. I shall take the first favorable opportunity to gratify my desire to serve the great American Republic, of which I am a citizen, and which is now fighting for universal liberty." The above correspondence appears in the Wanderer. of Vienna. There is no other news of im nortance.

New York, Oct. 3. The steamer Marion arrived from New Orleans, Sept. 25th, and Key West, Sept. 29th. Gen. Butler had ordered all citizens, male and female, above the age of 18 to take the oath of allegiance by October 1st, on pain of imprisonment and confiscation of property. A gang of 20 guerrillas from above Iberville had voluntarily surrendered. The Marion brought $250,000 in specie. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Oct. 3.

The President in company with McClellan, to day, reviewed the several corps of the army of the Potomac, beginning with J. Noel Burk, medical director of the ar- that of Burnside near the mouth of the Anmy of the south-west, and Dr. Mills of the tietam, and concluding with that of Frank lin at Barkersville, and those of Porter's and Reynold's. At the review of each corps, the people collected in large numbers and manifested the greatest enthusiasm in meeting the President and " Little Mac." The prevailing spirit of loyalty was clearly indicated by the greeting which on every hand was showered on the distinguishrailroad. Whether this be true or not, we ed men. McClellan was most enthusiasticare at present unable to say. It is certain, ally cheered by the soldiers. AFTERNOON DISPATORES. CINCINNATI, Oct. 4.

George H. Pendleton and Alex. Long were nominated for congress yesterday by the democrats of the 1st and 2d districts. A military order was issued to-day suspending all drills of city military organizations till further orders. A dispatch from Capt. Hawser, of 33d

Ind., dated Greensburg, Ky., the 3d, says Gen. George W. Morgan arrived with his whole command at Greensburg last evening. He brought all his trains and artillery with him. His men are in fine health, not withstanding the many hardships they have undergone on their march from Cumberland

The Commercial says Morgan's retreat was the most arduous and hazardous of the war. During the march northward our army was constantly enveloped by the enemy's cavalry. Morgan maintained the offensive throughout. On one occasion he marched fourteen successive hours for three days. Our troops lind no water but that found in stagnant pools. All the guns at the Gap were brought away except four 32 pounders which were too heavy for transportation. They were made useless hefore being abandoned. Greensburg, Ky, is fifteen miles above Portsmouth, Ohio.

Fulton, N. Y., Oct. 4. A terribly destructive fire occurred this norning, at five o'clock, originating in a arge flouring mill of Kenyon & Johnson, directly south and adjoining lower river bridge, on the west side of the canal. The flames soon spread across the bridge, attacked the mill of Baker & Co., taking the bridge in its way, consuming the large store house and flour store of W. S. Nelson in its progress northward. After consuming the mill of Baker & Co., the extensive furniture and machine shop of Dutton, Comming and Smith, telegraph mills of Sterens & Dwight, woolen factory and woolen machine works of A. J. Thiver, furniture ma a woolen factory by A. R. Ware, millwright, and by M. E. Lasher as a sash, blind and door factory, the building occupied by Mr. factory and carpenter shop, and a dwelling house occupied by two families, were rap idly and entirely destroyed. All the force pumps on which the village has heretofore depended in fires in this locality were located in the several mills, and were of course soon rendered useless. The bridge across Oswego river was also on fire, and before the destroying element could be checked, three spans, or about 150 feet, were destroyed. The bridge over the hydraulic canal was also burned.

Opposition to the Government.

The Madison Patriot denies with a good deal of temper that it is acting in opposition to the government, and defies us to point to a single (article in its columns which will sustain our allegation against it. We admit that we can find no language which says in words "we are opposed to the government," for as little discretion as it evinces in its general course of opposition, it has not yet reached that point of boldness and defiance; but if opposition to all the specific measures adopted by the government to put down the rebellion, except the collection of an army and an actual conflict on the battle field, is any evidence of the opposition we charge, then every number of the Patiet is full of it. We can only judge men by their acts, and when we find a person opposing every measure adopted to accomplish an object, misrepresenting everything, appealing to passions and prejudices, raising every conto be accomplished; or if, by a long stretch this very thing. While professing loyalty, their tendency is disloyal, and nothing else. No one can hear or read them and feel his blood warmed by any patriotic impulse, or inspired to any act of friendship to the government against which their charges are directed. They find fault with everything calculated to give the most efficiency to the war in the revolted states, or hold in check a sympathising sentiment with rebellion in the loyal states. They can see nothing in the constitution but protection to slavery, and nothing in a restored Union but forgiveness to traitors and a return to all the rights and privileges of the government those traitors are now trying to subvert. If this is not opposition to the gov-

The Madison Patriot is informed that we have never opposed the government in the prosecution of the war against the rebels. We wanted it to strike them first blow, because it is the corner stone of pride of such a mother, his heart beat Mr. Johnson is now, and has been since his the reballion. We are in force of a mother and sent the final in the reballion. the rebellion. We are in favor of all the government does to push forward the war, and a great deal more. The Patriot does not sustain the government in what it does. much less does it arge a more vigorous attack upon the rebels. It is so troubled with legal scruples that it wants the war prosecuted under the "revised statutes," or not at all. They are, for instance, in favor of sending out a big army against the rebels, but believe that the commander is compelled by the constitution to stop in his march, if served with a writ of habeas corpus, and go through with a legal investigation, before he can again advance. That is about the war policy of the Patriot.

As to our application for an office under the government, that is wholly false. No one of the proprietors or editors of the Gazette has ever asked for any appointment under this administration.

DRAFTING .- The Madison Journal says: It has been a matter of some doubt whether there is to be a deaft in this state or not, We are authorized, from the executive department, to state that there will certainly be a draft to make up at least three regiments, and that it will take tlace as soon as the necessary papers can be prepared for that purpose. It is hoped arrangements will be perfected so as to make the draft by about the 20th of this month.

Hon. Roscoe Conkling has been renominated, by unanimous acclamation, for congress in the Oneida district, New York,

There came daily to one of the government hospitals in St. Louis a lady whose lender care of the sick and wounded soldiers attracted observation. She was known as the wife of a citizen, and as an educated voman, who moved in refined society. Before the war commenced the was among the most cheerful and companionable in a large circle of friends. All the elements of life were in harmony. But very soon after the mad assault of corrupt men upon their government, Mrs. G-'s whole de-meanor changed. Friends wondered, and asked for the cause. But she was silent. She went no more into society, but held herself away from public observation, shutting herself up for most of the time in her awu house.

Conjecture was, of course, busy; and many theories to cover the case were advanced and admitted—some near the truth. perhaps, but nearly all remote therefrom. The change in her manner and state of mind was complete; the warm, bright sunshine had passed, and she was under the shadow of heavy clouds. All this was re-markable, in view of the fact that Mrs. — was known as a woman of cheerful, reactive disposition; of clear, common sense. Whatever trouble might come, her with the calmness and dignity of a superior mind. Was it her individual life so

Whatever the cause, Mrs. G -- did not rise above it. She was present no more in the circles to which she had always lent a charm. Occasionally an old acquaintance would see her on the street, but with a manner so changed and subdued that she was scarcely recognized. The Sabbath always found her in church, sitting with bowed head, an absorbed and fervent worshipper: and as she moved down the airle, after the service had closed, and out from the portico amid the crowd, instinctive delicacy in the minds of a large number of old friends let her pass without intrusion.

Thus it was with Mrs. G ----, when disease, in league with bullet, cannon ball and bursting shell, began to crowd the hospitals of St. Louis with sick and wounded men, thus bringing into the very heart of the city, peaceful and prosperous a few months before, the ghastly fruit of treason. Among the earliest to enroll herself in the common sisterhood of charity, was Mrs. G---. Almost on the very day that the first wounded man arrived, she presented herself at one of the hospitals, and claimed a woman's privilege of ministering to pain. Her care was less for the sick than for the wounded. and less for strong men than for youthtender boys who had felt the kindling fires of patriotism, and gone forth in arms to meet the foes of freedom and law. Towards these she displayed all the interest and compassionate care of a mother, ministering to the mind and heart, as well as to the suffering body. It was remarkable how completely her life came down into this work, and how soon duty was absorbed by love. Among those who were brought in from one of the many battle-fields in Missouri, were three young men, the oldest not over twenty-two. One of them had lost an arm one had his right knee shattered by a shell, and the other had received three bullets in his body. They were laid on three beds, standing side by side; and the first woman's face that looked down in pity upon their pale, suffering faces, was that of Mrs. The first sound, so full of bome and love, so soft and sweet to their ears, and like the voice of a mother, was the voice of Mrs. G ---. Do we wonder that, as their eyes looked up to hers, they grew blinded by tears? Mrs. G -- did not leave them when the surgeon came. The sight of his instruments pressed the blood back upon her ceivable objection to all the means pro-posed and predicting the most disastrous a fair-haired stripting, whose hort gaze results from them, sowing those seeds of turned from the kuife and probe, and reachresults from them, sowing those seeds of ed upwards towards hers, like clinging discord which if they possess any vitality hands, held her to the post of duty, and whatever will surely ripen into open and compassion gave new life to her heart, so undisguised hostility, we can attribute such | that all its pulses were strong again. The conduct only to hostility to the object sought surgeon's best assistant, through all the painful work that had in mercy to be done cer from New Orleans, now in this city, as upon the bodies of these young men, was serts that when the Hon. Reverdy Johnson of charity, we are willing to waive the ex-istence of a hostile motive, we can do no from her tender and maternal voice. She ranging matters between Gen. Butter and less than assign an attitude of opposition filled their hearts, and shone from their far obnoxious to the soldiers and Union citizens to the person thus manifesting his opinions | ces, in the calm, and case, and rest that there by his intimacy with the secession and position. The class of men and news followed the torture, and not only filled aristocrate, and the freedom with which he papers represented by the Patrict are doing their hearts, and shone from their faces, became their guest. Mr. Johnson occupied this very thing. While professing levalty but awakened by its ardor the purest and much of his time in mellifying the punish.

> ture demanded rest. Mrs. G —— was more retary Chase, was ordered by Mr. Johnson exhausted than she had ever been before, to be returned to the rebel firm. Gen. Butburned with too consuming an intensity. returned to the hospital. Her first to remain in custody. They exhibited asvisit was to the three young men with tonishment at this, inquiring if they were whom she had passed the night. They received her with grateful eyes and welcome her more deeply than she had been touched by anything which she had seen during her walks of mercy amid sick and wound-about themselves and their home.

One had a mother in far-away New England, and his lashes lay wet on his checks as he spoke of her.

"She loves her country, and has given quicker, and sent the flushing blood to his pale face. "I will not tell her how hadly am hurt," he continued; "she shall only she shall know of your kindness, dear lady! first letter shall tell her of that!"

"Happy mother, to have brave and loyal sons in a time like this!" answered Mrs. -, her voice losing its firm tones, and sinking to a sad expression.

"Have you no son to give to your country?" asked the fair-baired stripling, whose head had rested, a few hours before against her bosom, while the knife and probe were making him sick with agony.

"I will call you my son," was replied, after a brief silence, Mrs. G——'s voice was was in a lower key, but calm and steady. Sha seemed to have encountered a strong in her vessel of life shudder; but the stroke had proved harmless, and she was herself "And you are my sons also," she added, almost proudly, as she looked upon Worthy sons! I will give you the others.

a mother's care." There entered at this moment, two men. carrying a litter, on which a man was lying. A surgeon and nurse were in attendance. The large room was full of beds, and on one of these the man, who mound in a low, plaintive voice, was placed. Mrs. Gdid not stir from where she sat by the young soldier. Scenes like this was almost of daily occurrance, and did not disturb the order or duties of the institution.

"A wounded rebel," said the nurse, who had come in with the litter. She crossed over to Mrs. G——, whispered the sentence and then moved back again. She did not know what a thrill of pain her brief sen-flash of the loyal youth over whose couch she sat, might have been sent ou its cruel mission by his hands. Yet was he now brought in, carefully to be adminstered to in suffering, and saved perhaps from death. This was the very thought that flashed through the mind of Mrs. G-, as the thrill of pain which the announcement occasioned went trembling away into stillness. The moans of the wounded man soon died away. He had first been taken to the surgeon's apartments, and after the ah straction of a ball, the passage of which had been more painful than dangerous, removed under the charge of a nurse, to the room where he now rested.

Mrs. G--'s interest in the three young men, who were now specially in her charge, found no abatement, but rather increase. In brief conversations with each of them, she gathered little facts and incidents and sentiments that expressed the quality of their lives, of a character still further to interest her feelings. Each had been tenderly cared for in early years, and each was loyal as well to all home memories as to the country he had gone forth to serve, bearing his life in his hands.

It was nearly an hour after the wounded rebel was brought in, when a nurse, crossing from a distant part, where he lay, came to Mrs. G——, who was assisting the sur-geon to dress the shattered limb of one of the young men under her care, and stooping down, said to her, with suppressed agi-

Her hand showed no tremor as she wound the long bandages about the tender limb, and in every minutia obeyed the surgeons direction. When the painful work was done she wiped from the suffer er's pale forehead the clammy sweat that covered it, and laid her hand softly upon his temples, smoothing back the damp hair. No mother's hand had in it a more tender

For a minute the surgeon drew her aside and they stood in earnest conversation; then he moved away, and Mrs. G — resumed her place. Not long afterwards, the rebel soldier who had been brought in was carried out again, the men who bore the litter almost touching Mrs. G—— as they passed her. But she did not stir nor look around. One, two, three hours, and she was still in the hospital; but her loyal, herole beart had taken up a burden that no mother's heart has strength to bear. The surgeon, who comprehended the case, was watching her with intense interest. He saw, with eyes that could read signs that others might not understand, the gradual failing of power to sustain herself in this self-imposed ordeal, and more than once offered gentle remonstrances, which she failed to heed. But all things yield, when pressure is in excess of strength. Three bours after her wounded rebel son had been removed, by her order, with a nurse in attendance, to the home he had dishonored, was carried thither insensible, having awooned from exhaustion of vital power in the unnatural conflict of mind to which she had been subjected.

On the day after, she was absent from the hospital; but on the third day she came in again, paler, and to some eyes sadder, and again administered with loving care to the sons of her adoption.

Our homely prose has failed to give in fitting words this true and touching incident, worthy to be enshrined by some true poet in deathless numbers. It should not perish. Who will set it in the jewels of song?

Cairo, Oct. 3. Special to Chicago Journal.—The Fanny Bullitz arrived this morning, direct from Helena. She has on board about 400 sick. Four have died on the way up. I could not get their names, as everything was in great confusion.

But four nurses had been detailed to wait on these four hundred men, and great suffering has been the result. But few have anything but a little atraw to lie on, and some have scarcely had a mouthful of food since starting from Helena. Some lay in their filth nearly naked and covered with flies.

A lieutenant remarked that his heart had bled all the way up, and he had done what he could to relieve the suffering. Several will certainly die between this and St. Louis.

J. Noel Burk, medical director of the ar my of the south-west, and Dr. Mills of the 47th Indiana are responsible for this great crime against humanity. Nothing important from any quarter this morning. Paducan, Ky., Oct. 3. It is reported here to day that the enemy under Price have attacked Corinth gained possession of the Mobile and Ohio railroad. Whether this be true or not, we are at present unable to say. It is certain, however, that something is the matter in that direction, as railroad and telegraphic communications are entirely cut off south

Washington, Oct. 3. The Richmond Whig of Sept. 30th, contains the following: In the rebel senate on the 29th of September, Er. Simmes of Louisians, submitted the following joint Resolved, By the congress of the confederate states. That the proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States of America, issued at the city of Washington, in the year 1862, wherein he declares that on the first day of January, 1863, all persons held as slaves within any state, or designated parts of a state, whereof the cople shall be in rebellion against the Inited States, shall be henceforth and forever free, is leveled against the citizens of the confederate states, and as such, is a gross violation of the usages of civilized warfare, and an outrage on the rights of private property, and an invitation to an atrocious servile war. It therefore should be held up to the execration of mankind and counteracted by such severe retaliatory measures as in the judgm at of the pres dent may be best calculated to secure its withdrawal or arrest its execution.

Mr. Clark, of Missouri, moved that the resolution be referred to the committee on foreign affairs. He was in favor of declarng every citizen of the southern confederacy'a soldier, authorized to put to death every man caught upon our soil, in arms against the government.

Mr. Semmes of Louisiana said the resolution had not been drawn without reflection; the question of retaliation was exclu sively an executive one, to be regulated by circumstances, but it was proper that the legislativo department of the government should express its approval of the retaliation contemplated by the resolution.

Mr. Henry, of Tenn., did not go far enough. He favored the passage of a law providing that upon any attempt being made to execute the proclamation of Abra sam Lincoln, we immediately hoist the black flag and proclaim a war of extermi nation against all the invaders of our soil.

Mr. Phelan, of Miss., said he had always been in favor of conducting the war under the black flag. If that flag had been raised at Manassas one year ago, the war would be over now.

Mr. Yancey, of Ala., moved the pending esolution, with the resolutions submitted sy him some time since relative to retaliaion, etc., be referred to a special commit ce of three, and be made the special order or Wednesday next.

Mr. Burnett, of Ky., moved that all of the said resolutions be referred to the com-

MORNING DISPATCHES.

CAPE RACE, Oct. 3. By the steamer City of Washington.— FRANCE.—The bourse had been higher. Garibaldi's condition continues to improve, but it is expected it will be many weeks be the American struggle for liberty and uni ty, promising him an enthusiastic recep tion. Garihaldi, under date of Sept. 14th "I am a prisoner, and danger ously wounded. It is consequently impossible for me to dispose of myself. As soon, however, as I am restored to liberty, and my wounds are healed, I shall take the first favorable opportunity to gratify my desire to serve the great American Republic, of which I am a citizen, and which is now fighting for universal liberty." correspondence appears in the Wanderer of Vicana. There is no other news of im-norlance. New York, Oct. 3. The steamer Marion arrived from New Orleans, Sept. 25th, and Key West, Sept. 29th. Gen. Butler had ordered all citizens, male and female, above the age of 18 to take the oath of allegiance by on pain of imprisonment and confiscation of property. A gang of 20 guerrillas from bove Iberville had voluntarily surrendezed. The Marion brought $250,000 in specie.

HEADQUARGERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Oct. The President in company with McClel lan, to day, reviewed the several corps of the army of the Potomac, beginning with that of Burnside near the mouth of the Antietam, and concluding with that of Frank liu at Barkersville, and those of Porter's and Reynold's. At the review of each corps, the people collected in large num bers and manifested the greatest enthusi-asm in meeting the President and "Little The prevailing spirit of loyalty was clearly indicated by the greeting which on every hand was showered on the distinguished men. McClellan was most enthusiastically cheered by the soldiers. The President after visiting Richardson, who lies near by, will in the morning be escorted to Frederick, where he will take a special train for Washington.

Washington, Oct. 3. According to act of congress of July, the western ganboat fleet has been trans erred from the war department to the nav lepariment. All vessels now under contruction or repair by authority of the wa lepartment are to be completed and paid for under the authority of the navy department, from appropriations made for that purpose.

New York, Oct. 3. The steamer British Queen arrived from Havana the 27th and Nassau the 29th. The steamer Sciota arrived at Nassau the 28th from Charleston. The steamer Augelia from Charleston arrived at Nassan the 20th, and cleared again, ostensibly for St. Johns, N. B. The steamer Maggie Milton had arrived from Wilmington, N. C., with cotton, turpentine, etc.

ARTERNOON DISPATCHES.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4. George H. Pendleton and Alex. Long were nominated for congress yesterday by the democrats of the 1st and 2d districts. A military order was issued to-day suspending all drills of city military organizaions till further orders.

A dispatch from Capt. Hawser, of 33d lud., dated Greensburg, Kv., the 3d, says Gen. George W. Morgan arrived with his whole command at Greensburg last even-He brought all his trains and artillery with him. His men are in fine health, not withstanding the many hardships they have undergone on their murch from Cumberland Gap.

The Commercial says Morgan's refreat was the most ardnous and hazardous of the war. During the march northward our army was constantly enveloped by the encmy's cavalry. Morgan maintained the ofensive throughout. On one occasion be marched fourteen successive hours for three lays. Our troops had no water but that found in stagnant pools. All the guns at the Gap were brought away except four 32-pounders which were too heavy transportation. They were made useless before being abandoned. Greensburg, Ky., is fifteen miles above Portsmouth, Ohio.

FULTON, N. Y., Oct. 4. A terribly destructive fire occurred this morning, at five o'clock, originating in a large flouring mill of Kenyon & Johnson, directly south and adjoining lower river bridge, on the west side of the canal. The flames soon spread across the bridge, at tacked the mill of Baker & Co., taking the bridge in its way, consuming the large store house and flour store of W. S. Nelson in mittee on judiciary. Criticising the Government.

One of the points made by Mr. Carpenter in his speech last night was that the acts of the government should not be critgard to their merits, and if the President, | tend. as the representative of the government. should prove to be wrong or in default, bring him to a settlement after the war is over. We cannot assent to this doctrine as broadly as Mr. Carpenter stated it, and Mr. C. himself departed from it in his own and with which the war has been until recently prosecuted. The spirit and object of a criticism determines its character. If it is intended for good, then at least the intention is commendable. If it is mere fault-finding and designed for evil, then nothing about is justifiable and it is altogether wrong. We firmly believe that just such complaints as Mr. Carpenter made, action of the army and the tender policy vices at 10 / A. M., and 7 / P. M. The temporary rest they are now enjoying upon the battle field of Autietam is refreshing to the veterans of Gen. (hibbon's command. On May 28th the regiment embarked on the steamer Alabams for Fortress Monroe, where it remained nine weeks, doing its full share of picket and other duty, and gaining the very enviable reputation for its efficiency in drill, good discipline, morality and bravery which was as lasting as it was descreed. On July 27th, 1501, the regiment went to Federal

Hill, Baltimore, where they remained eight months,

constructing Fort Federal Hill, which is one of the best specimens of engineering skill to be found. The last of March they were ordered to join the army of the Po-tomic under McClellan, and reached Portress Monroe April 1st, 1863. The same day they left for Newport News; after romaining three days they made a forced march of 27 miles to Join the main army at "Camp Winfield Scott." Here the regiment constructed a road of logs, afterwards built Battery No. 1, attacking Gloucester Point, whose guns were seen allenced. This regiment also mounted the heavy seige guns belore the reign of Sebastopol. The regiment was here brigaded with the regulars under Gen. 8) Les, in Fitz John Porter's division. After the evacuation of Williams. burg they marched to the Chickshominy, protecting the right wing of our army. May 26th, 1862, the regiment marched to Hanover Court House and took part in the battle of the 27th. Next comes the seven d ys' battles before Richmond, commencing the 25th of June. On the 27 h this regiment fought in the battle at Caines' Hill, suffering severely. They retreated to Mainern Hill in good order. Here they covered the entire retreat across the bridge, from thence they retreated to Harrison's Landing, July I, 1862, fighting continually In the most gallant manner, undergoing an amount of fatigue, and privation almost incredible, sleeping at night on their arms, sometimes in water ankle deep Edward was noticed in the report of thece battles by his captain and colonel, for bravery and gallant conduct on the battlefield and was at once promoted to a 2d lieutenancy. Whilst they were at Harrhon's Landing Edward was prostrated for several days by over fatigue and sickness, but flushly restored to health he marched with his regiment on the 13th of August, enrouse to Newport News; thence they shipped on steamer Cahala to Acquia Creek and Fredericksburg and on to Manassas, where in the battle of Groveton, or Pull Run No 2, on the 30th of August, Edward received his fatal wound, a minute ball striking his left arm near the socket, presing lute his body through his lung, and was finally taken out from between his shoulders .-This was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon; he lay on the battlefield without food or nourishment of any kind until the afternoon of the next day, when he was eacorted by a Texan to a hospital, but was unable to get his wound dressed. From there he walked to Conterville, where, after waiting two days, he succeeded in getting his wound dressed and his parole. From there ho was taken to Taicfax Seminary hospital, near Alexandrian, Va, where he died on the 25th of Bentember,

During all his painful lilness not a murmer escaped his lips Patiently he bere his pains and the necessary neglect consequent upon the over-crowded hospital, and a want of a sufficient number of nurses, but oh how grateful he was to have his dearly loved brother with him during his last hours, to soothe his dying point and take his messages to his much lated friends; an l so are we.

Thus ended the short but eventful life of one of the kindest hearted, trucet, bravest but most unselfish, unassuming patriots among the many that have fallen the victims of this wicked rebellion. His life was a temperate, pure and correct one, and he died with a christian's hope and faith. As a soldler, respectful to his superiors in rank, kind and attentive to all, he won the confidence, respect and love of each member of his regiment and every one that knew him.

Judison's Mountain Herb Pills.—How strange and wonderful it often seems to us that a medicine composed of simple mountain herbs and roots, should so certainly search out and cura disease. How surprising that the Indians should know and preserve so long and well a secret that has oscaped the search of the greatest physicians the world has ever seen. True, the ancient inhabitants of Mexico were astrange root, found by the Spaniards living in large cities, and stlowing for their strange customs and religion as well civilized as their conquerors. In the world of a writer of some celebrity. They have persided from the earth, their cities are gigantic piles of ruins, their Kings and Frinces so nightly in their life, are longotter, their runs and their medicine alone are left." The united testimony of all intelligent persons is, that JUBSON'S MOUNTAIN HERD FILLS are the most successful medicine in the world in curing disease.
